

Dangers of MMA:

When you are looking for a professional nail salon or nail technician, you need to be aware of some serious dangers in the nail industry. Now keep in mind, you don't have to worry about these dangers when you go to a licensed nail salon with Tammy Taylor professional nail technicians using all Tammy Taylor Products.

A huge danger is MMA, an illegal acrylic product that can cause permanent loss and damage of the natural nail, as well as numbness in the fingers. After prolonged usage, this dangerous chemical deemed poisonous by the FDA can cause miscarriages, lesions on the kidneys, liver problems, and respiratory problems.

You can tell a salon is using this product by the following:

- The salon prices are usually significantly discounted
- There is an unusually strong odor
- It takes a long time to soak off the MMA acrylic, so they usually have to pick and/or drill it off
- Excessive use of drills because the MMA acrylic is very hard and rigid

They won't tell you the product they are using and the containers are smeared or old, which means they are probably filling illegal product into a reputable companies' containers.

MMA has been BANNED in the nail industry for over 20 years but is still being used because it is cheap! You, as the consumer, must look for all these warning signs and ask to speak to a manager before having a service done. Also, have them show and explain to you what products are being used in their salon. If they cannot do this, do not have your nails done there or you could have very serious consequences.
